

IRISH WILL NOT BACK GOVERNMENT

And There is Every Indication That a Political Crisis is Imminent in the Old Land Followed by an Appeal to the Country

London, Feb. 22.—Commenting on the unexpected collapse in the House of Commons yesterday of the debate at the conclusion of Mr. Redmond's speech, the Unionist morning papers predict that the new parliament will be so short-lived as to be practically still-born.

The Morning Post writes Mr. Balfour is to be prepared to take office at any moment.

The Telegraph says: "After this astonishing prelude it would be folly even to conjecture what may happen next. The issue is more complex than any Unionist had dared to conceive."

The Radical Morning Leader says: "When the House of Commons adjourned it was clear that the life of the government hung on a thread and that the decision to prolong it or not would be a matter of hours."

The Daily News complains bitterly of Premier Asquith's ambiguity in the matter of guarantees and declares that the situation is perilous.

The players in the game of politics threw their cards on the table.

* Lord Curzon to Wed Mrs. Astor.

New York, Feb. 22.—The Call's correspondent learns from a source that is authoritative that Mrs. John Jacob Astor, recently divorced in New York, and now in England, will soon be married to Lord Curzon, former viceroy of India.

BOYLE FIRES FIRST SHOT

Gives Notice that he will Move Resolutions in House on Wednesday Next

WILL DRAW ON DEBATE

And Division will Follow—Cashing and Others Expected to Take Part in Question—Government Whip Busy

Political circles are all agog after the sitting of the legislature yesterday. Whatever the excitement before it now seems to be increased two-fold. The government whip, who heretofore has not been overworked, will now have to get busy. He will have to move the resolutions, if indeed they do not already know that an important division of the House is to be effected before the close of the week. When the "aye" and the "nay" have been counted the government will know where it stands. Until then the government whip will crack and the caucus will go merrily on.

Something has happened in the legislature. Up to yesterday there have been immemorial charges against the government in respect to the contract made with the Alberta and Great Waterways railway. All that the legislature saw was the attempt of the revolutionary faction to possess itself of information. It was anticipated that an issue would have to be forced in some manner, but it was not known to the outsiders just how it would come about.

Mr. Boyle, Sturgeon, made this quite clear by giving notice of a resolution which he will introduce to the House on Wednesday next. The resolution is in effect a severe censure of the government's contract with the Alberta and Great Waterways railway.

Montreal, Feb. 22.—Leading officials of the G.T.R. and C.P.R. say that reports being circulated that a strike of trainmen in their employ is imminent, are absurd. It is true that the management of the railroads have been in consultation with committees of the men and that attempts to arrive at a settlement have so far resulted in failure.

BIG MIX-UP IN CANADIAN LEAGUE

Thos. Hare, Manager of Cobalt Team, Says Small Jumped his Club—Both Saturday's Games May be Thrown Out

Halifax, Feb. 22.—There promises to be one of the greatest mix-ups in National League hockey circles within the next few days. Thos. Hare, manager of the Cobalt team, announces that he will push the case against Walter Small for jumping from the Cobalt team to the Ottawas. According to Hare, the Cobalt club met all their contracts called for in Small's case and if he could not fulfil the team it was not their fault. He was never given his release by the Cobalt team and therefore his playing for Ottawas will result in the cancelling of the Wanderer-Ottawa game in Montreal on Saturday night. A protest has also been filed against Renfrew team for playing "Newsy" Laidlaw in Saturday's game against Cobalt.

BANQUET WILL BE BIG EVENT

Board of Trade to Extend Edmonton Hospitality to Railway Officials Next Month

MARCH 17TH IS DATE SET

Annual Meeting of Board for Election of Officers and Reading of Important Reports of Year's Work

The members of the Board of Trade turned out in large numbers to the annual meeting yesterday afternoon and the attendance taxed the capacity of the splendid new quarters in the King Edward Hotel to the utmost.

A. C. Fraser brought in the report of the entertainment committee and recommended that a banquet be held in March, preferably the 17th, to which prominent railway officials be invited. This suggestion was well received by the meeting and all details of the banquet will be left in the hands of the new entertainment committee.

Messrs. Dowsett and Harrison read the reports of the president and secretary. Both treated the affairs of the preceding year in an exhaustive manner and the members showed their approval by hearty votes of thanks for the splendid manner in which they had fulfilled their arduous duties in the past year.

The section of the secretary's report pertaining to the increased membership of the Board is of special interest. It reads:

"One hundred and five new members joined the board during 1909. Nearly every wholesale merchant, manufacturer and retail merchant in Edmonton being now a member of the board. The total membership is 320, making our board one of the strongest in Western Canada." The appointment of a business men's committee and the rental of new offices are steps in anticipation of the increased membership of the Board is of special interest.

SIR WILFRID'S CONDITION

His Continued Absence from the House is Causing Considerable Anxiety

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—The illness of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is causing some anxiety. The Premier has been absent from the House for some days, and while the official statement is made that he is suffering merely from a heavy cold, there are rumors that his general condition of health is far from being satisfactory. At the early part of the session Sir Wilfrid Laurier was confined to the house for several days suffering from an affection of the facial nerves, and his present indisposition is stated to have brought a recurrence of the former malady. In the meantime Mr. Fielding is leading the House, and Sir Frederick Borden, in the absence of Mr. Brodeur and the Premier, is watching over the destinies of the naval debate. It has been noted of late that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is aging rapidly, and his indisposition is now a matter of concern, with the naval bill almost entirely on his hands, owing to the serious illness of Mr. Brodeur, his continued absence from the House during a critical stage of the debate is not regarded as reassuring either by political friends or opponents.

CITY TO CONTROL ITS SCAVENGING

Commissioners will Recommend New Department for this Work—No More Contracts

If the city council adopts a certain recommendation of the commissioners tonight, the city will in future have entire charge of the scavenger department, and the men employed in this work will be civic employees. At present all the scavenging that is done in the city is done by contract, and is awarded to the lowest tenderer. Dr. Whitelaw, medical health officer, thinks that the city could save a great deal of money every year if they had this work done by their own employees, and under the control of one of the existing departments. In support of this idea, the health officer forwarded to the commissioners his reasons for believing that a scavenger department, say in control of the health department, would pay. "Take the coming year, for instance. The time is now near at hand when the scavenging contract must be renewed, or a new one called for. The city expects this summer to add very largely to the present sewage system, and as a result upwards of a thousand houses will be furnished with water and sewer connections. This will decrease to quite an appreciable extent the amount of work that will have to be done by the scavengers. "Now, if tenders were called for this month, the tenders would place their estimate on the amount of work that has to be done now, and would further allow for an increase in the population of the city during the coming summer. They would not, however, take into consideration the extension of the sewage system, and the reduction of work thus effected. This, both the health officers and the city commissioners have reason to believe, would amount to quite a sum. All the larger cities employ their

With no uncertain voice did the voters express their desires yesterday in regard to the three points at issue. In every case the majorities were not decisive.

The first street site for the proposed new market building was chosen by a vote of over 2 to 1; the money for the improvement of Exhibition Park was voted by a majority of 3 to 1, and the Rice-Howard corner as a site for the public library was rejected by a vote of 6 to 1.

The corrected and authentic figures, as given out by Secretary-Treasurer Crosskill this morning, and which are published above, show some interesting facts.

Take the market plebiscite, for instance. The first street site was chosen in every one of the polling divisions. In No. 3 division, which embraces all of the city east of First street and south of Clark, the reverse vote was polled in favor of Rice to 1.

When Mayor Lee and Alderman Gurney made their tour of the eastern cities, one of the chief things they did was to try and find a man who would fill acceptably the position of Public Works Commissioner in Edmonton. They got in touch with four men, any one of whom, in their opinion, would be just about the right man in the right place. Two of these men live in western cities, and two are in the east.

The one on whom they made their first choice is a western man, and it is this man that they are now trying to get as Public Works Commissioner.

MR. BOYLE'S RESOLUTION

The resolution of which Mr. Boyle gave notice in the legislature yesterday and which will come up for discussion tomorrow will bring the whole question of provincial policy in respect to the A. & G. W. proposition before the public. That it will be thoroughly threshed out and that we shall be in a position to appreciate its merits and demerits when once the debate is over, there is every indication. As was said in these columns yesterday, there is no need nor justification for rushing to conclusions till a definite presentation of the case against the government and its statement in reply are made.

There is one chance in Mr. Boyle's resolution however, that there should be no two opinions about. All refer to the last which reads:

"And further resolved, that as the distance between Edmonton and Fort McMurray is not 350 miles, but is only in direct line 220 miles, there should be set aside out of the said sum of $7,400,000, a sufficient sum for the purpose of constructing said railway from Edmonton to Fort McMurray, in a first class manner, and by whatever route will best serve the interests of the railway and present as well as possible future settlement and the balance of said sum of $7,400,000 shall be used for the construction of a railway or railways, in whatever portion of this province the legislature may determine."

Whatever happens to the rest of Mr. Boyle's proposals, there should be absolutely no countenance given to this and the Capital is more than surprised that a man of his experience and reputation should have incorporated it in his resolution. What it amounts to is simply this: That the province proposes to take $2,400,000 that doesn't belong to it and turn it to such purposes as it sees fit.

This $7,400,000 has been secured in the London financial market by a railway corporation to build 320 miles of railway through central territory and to provide for terminals at Ed-

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1910.

YESTERDAY'S VOTE

The citizens of Edmonton gave no uncertain expression to their opinions yesterday.

The large majority for the exhibition park bylaw shows how much at heart they have the welfare of the annual fair and how strong an appeal the policy of playgrounds for the people makes. Facilities will now be available for the holding of an exhibition, which, with good management and an ordinary amount of good fortune, is sure to rank with the best in the country, while with the money placed at the disposal of the association the grounds will be put in shape to make them of value for recreation purposes all through the summer months. Twenty years from now, the citizens of that day will look back and give credit to the foresight of those of 1910.

The crushing defeat of the library bylaw and the decision to place the market building on the first street also shows that the people are thoroughly in accord with the view that the present market property should be turned into a central square that will be a matter of civic pride. The question of just how this general idea is to be carried into effect should be grappled with immediately and a definite policy evolved. The Capital believes that the matter of the library site should be worked into the civic square scheme, yet it does not wish to see the erection of that building delayed for any length of time.

There are two sets of opinions as to the disposal of the square. According to one, it should be used as a site for public buildings. Some would reserve it for the city hall; some would place other buildings there. Then there are those who would have it reserved partly for park purposes and have property facing it secured for the required buildings. The Capital has already stated its preference for the latter plan and trusts that it will be adopted. It wants to see the question thoroughly discussed right away and would be glad to have its readers use its columns to express their ideas.

Says the Macleod Advertiser:
"Here's Gleichman making a determined move to get the agricultural college. A resolute delegation has gone to Edmonton to interview the Government on the subject. That's the way to go about it. What is Macleod doing by the way?"

And what about Pinner Creek, Clarendon, Nanton, High River, Olds, Innisfail, Stettler, Vegreville and Athabasca Landing, not to mention Rocky Mountain House and Eagle Butte?

The publicity commission of the province should not overlook the King Edward correspondent of the Verdon Signal. Who could resist the following:

"Oh! who wouldn't farm in Alberta, with twenty-one hundred days where horses can graze all winter, and cows eat the C. N. R. hay. Where people are flocking in thousands, with money and cattle galore; to wheat fields the prairies are turning, the 'great solitude' is no more."

Some people are beginning to think that all this political excitement that we have been hearing so much about for ten days past in connection with Alberta affairs exists in the imagination of the newspaper reporters. Day after day they promise startling developments but up to the present Alphonse and Gaston would feel quite at home in the legislature. In the meanwhile at Okotawo one member has been telling another to come outside and he would punch his face. If this had happened here business up town would have been suspended when the next sitting came due. But strange to say, no one paid any particular attention to the incident in the Dominion capital. Why the difference? After we have had a few years of real politics we may be able to take such things as a matter of course.

It is appalling what is sometimes served up to Canadians as news. For instance a contemporary thus a dispatch from London stating that King Edward has swung squarely to the side of Asquith, the basis of this statement being the fact that the speech from the Throne foreshadowed a measure for the limitation of the power of the peers. The writer of such a message has probably never been in London. That he manufactures his material in the office of a New York press bureau is the only reasonable explanation of such an announcement as this. But we did think that everyone in Canada was familiar with the fact that King only speaks through his responsible Ministers and that it is utterly false to regard the language of the speech from the Throne as expressing his personal views.

To Tete Jaune Cache in Fall

Vancouver, Feb. 22.—Mr. D. McLeod of Prince Rupert, chief purchasing agent of Messrs. Foley, Welch & Stewart, the Grand Trunk Pacific railway contractors, is at the Hotel Vancouver, having just returned from an inspection trip to Alberta, where the company is engaged in the construction of a section 180 miles long between McLeod River and Tete Jaune Cache, 50 miles west of Yellowhead Pass. The work has been sublet and camps have been established along almost the entire route. It is expected that the contract will be completed late next fall.

Montreal, Feb. 22.—Immigration season is starting earlier than usual this year for the shipping companies report practically all the boats coming to Halifax, St. John from now on to be crowded with newcomers to Canada.

During the week end no fewer than four special trains have been necessary to bring to Montreal immigrants arriving at Halifax and St. John on the Empress of Ireland and Grampian, a large number secured to Montreal, and on to Toronto where two special trains went out yesterday carrying over 500 to Winnipeg and western points.

Pulpit Remarks Made Woman Faint

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 21.—The closing sermon of Rev. William H. V. Temple, formerly of Seattle, and now retiring pastor of the First Congregational church, furnished a sensation on Sunday.

Declaring that "low spirituality" and not finances caused the split between himself and the congregation which resulted in a request for his resignation some weeks ago, Dr. Temple flayed the members of the church and the trustees.

In the midst of the sermon Mrs. O. G. Hopkins, wife of a church trustee, became hysterical. Hopkins caught her as she fainted in the aisle. Holding her with his left arm, he shook his right fist at Dr. Temple, exclaiming, "You did this, you rascal."

There was silence for a moment while Hopkins and another assisted Mrs. Hopkins to the air. Then Dr. Temple resumed his denunciation of the church trustees and members of the congregation.

NEW AYRSHIRE RECORD

At the annual meeting of the Ayrshire breeders of Canada in Toronto last month, Mr. A. H. Trimble, of Red Deer was appointed vice president for Alberta and delegate to the Edmonton exhibition. The Canadian bred Ayrshire cow Princess of Woodlawn (15945), owned by Woodlawn Bros., of Rothsay, Wellington, Ontario, in the record of performance test, produced last year 15,376 lbs. of milk testing 3.09 per cent fat, yielding a total of 259 lbs. of butter fat. This established a new Canadian and American Ayrshire record in the production of milk and butter. In the dairy tests at the winter fairs, the Ayrshire breeders will press to have the cow of feed taken into consideration.

When it becomes the question of the hour as to who shall be the successor of your present cook, the want ads. will prove their worth to you.

NATIONAL LIVE STOCK RECORDS

Should Cover All Recognized Breeds of Farm Animals—Difference of Opinion Twixt East and West

The Toronto Weekly Sun, for which paper all must have great respect, has the following in a recent issue: "Many important matters" were discussed at the annual meeting of the various breeders' associations held in this city last week.

At the meeting of the Dominion Swine Breeders association was taken looking to the extension of the number of breeds of hogs carried on the Canadian National records. Steps were also taken which are calculated to facilitate the placing on Canadian records of representatives of distinctly American breeds that are being brought into the western provinces by immigrants from the United States.

What was done raises the whole question of policy in swine breeding. There are two or three breeds in this country which are adapted to our feeding conditions and qualified for the production of the type of bacon hog that both our home and export trade calls for. Some of these which are being brought in by American immigrants are of a different class altogether. They were created for the purpose of meeting wholly different conditions, where corn is the sole food, and great lumps of shank fat are the ideal sought for. It is impossible to prevent any man breeding the sort of animal he likes; it would not be wise to place difficulties in the way of importing any particular type, but official recognition and national registration should be reserved for hogs bred to meet the demands of the Canadian market. Let people produce or import what they will, but public encouragement should be reserved for that which is calculated to serve the public good.

In the policy outlined in this extract we cannot coincide, viz: "that only breeds of pigs adapted to our feeding conditions and qualified for the production of the type of bacon hog that both our home and export market calls for" should be admitted to registration.

"This may be good for Ontario but the National records are or should be for the benefit of the stock breeders all over the Dominion from ocean to ocean."

New opinions differ as to whether the policy of getting rid of all forms of the pig not suited to produce just one line of bacon for export to Great Britain or for a certain line of home consumption is a good one. An American packer says that this policy inaugurated in the east has given the Canadian market to the Chicago packers, who "export" to Canada more pork and bacon of certain kinds than the Canadian growers or producers put on the market for home use or export to the British Isles of the particular variety of which they have been making a specialty. In following a fad to produce nothing but a certain type of bacon hog we have driven the trade in other lines into the hands of Americans and thus import American hog products pay duty on them, add that to the cost of what we eat, plus the freight from Chicago, and say we like it.

The Sun says: "It is impossible to prevent any man from breeding the sort of animal he likes; it would not be wise to place difficulties in the way of importing any particular type, but official recognition and national registration should be reserved for hogs fitted to meet the demands of the Canadian market."

How is this not placing difficulties in the way of importing any particular type? Why because, unless animals are now recorded in the National records they are not admitted into Canada free of duty. Wake up! Ontario and come over, some of you, and see that you have to legislate for a cosmopolitan population. Is it not better, if specimens of the pig varieties that other kinds of people want are imported, that we should have them registered and get the best?

If they are not recorded then they come any old thing, entered at the customs as a "hogg" and pays 30 per cent duty on ordinary feed price. If he comes in as a recorded member of the swine tribe he comes in like a gentleman of pedigree and walks through the gate free of duty and stands a much better chance of being a credit to the country and to his owner. Why should we levy duty on one kind of pedigree animal and not another in a free country. If it is considered at all a square deal to the hog, it is not to the citizens who want them.

"Let people produce or import what they will, but public encouragement should be reserved for that which is calculated to serve the public good." Is Ontario quite sure that what is for the public good down there is equally for the public good of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta? The public good in this Dominion is a wide term, over 4,000 miles long, nowadays, and National Records have to cover the ideas, wants or necessities of people living all over this vast territory.

It is a new order of things to propose a policy of record only for one or two varieties of stock and those only of a particular sort suited to one line of policy.

It is a new order of things to propose a policy of record only for one or two varieties of stock and those only of a particular sort suited to one line of policy.

We might go on ad infinitum but give it as an opinion that National Records are for the service of the public, to record all pure-bred varieties of live stock designed to be imported or bred in this vast Dominion. They are a national utility, not to be cut down to a narrow channel or governed by the ideas in vogue at a certain time in one particular province, the successful outcome of which has not yet been guaranteed.

Most dogs in Edmonton are utility dogs in winter and pull sleighs and carts, but would we refuse registration to a toy spaniel in the C. N. R. C. stand book because its owner did not think it could pull a cart?

Think again Ontario, and broaden out and envelop us all.

Wake up, Ontario! The North and North-West are being fed with Chicago pigs, and the Yukon uses only Chicago products. A lot of people like big pigs out in this region, breed them, raise and sell them right along. Why shouldn't they be able to record their breeding stock in national records.

We are glad to see the Dominion Swine Breeders thought differently. There is hope for us yet, and, much as we love Ontario, we cannot do everything in the west, just as it is done in Ontario. There are others and they will be shown.

A FALSE RUMOR

A persistent rumor is being circulated throughout the province that the committee appointed by the Grain Growers' Association to confer with the government as to a system of government ownership of elevators, has recommended that the commission be appointed to operate the system should receive salaries of $8,000 for chairman, and $6,000 for associates. A careful reading of the memorial presented to the government by this committee, will show that there was nothing said about salaries to the commissioners. Moreover, the Guide is in a position to say that the question of salary was not considered by the committee until after those rumors appeared in the press, and that there is absolutely no truth in the statements that seem to be so persistently circulated among the farmers by those who are opposed to the publicly owned grain elevators.

The grain growers of Manitoba may rest assured that, as far as the committee they appointed is concerned, the interests of the grain growers will be conserved and the commissioners will receive no larger salaries than

MARKETS HERE AND THERE

The wheat market is still unsettled and there are reports of damage to the winter wheat area in the United States, but those are somewhat indefinite as yet. There is not much selling and farmers are holding on both sides of the boundary line. The winter wheat acreage is larger than last year. The market is quick to respond to an influence either way, and if reports turn out to be true of damage to winter wheat in the U. S. A., prices will have an upward tendency.

The oat market has been dull, but there was a good demand for barley last week. The flax market is inactive.

SENSATIONS FROM OTTAWA PAPERS

They say Renfrew Team will be Transferred Here—Also, Renfrew will Play Remaining Games in Ottawa and that Whitcroft has been Released

Ottawa papers are full of scare heads this week. First comes the report that Geo. Martel will transfer his Renfrew team to Edmonton. This story is all rot, as the Stanley Cup conditions clearly state that a challenging team must have played in the city's colors all the previous season. However, George could get around that by sending his Millionaires out here to defend the Fitz Reform Cup. Probably Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, and Prince Albert would not be so eager then to challenge for the silverware. The second report is that the Renfrew team will play all their remaining home games at the Ottawa Arena. The Renfrew players claim that they can play better on the Ottawa rink than on their home ice.

It is said the railway companies have offered to put on special trains for the hockey matches, leaving Renfrew after supper, and reaching Ottawa in plenty of time for the game, returning immediately after the match. The postponed fixture with the Shamrocks on March 5th will be tried as an experiment, and should it be well received, the rest of the schedule will be shifted to Ottawa.

This proposal looks very nice from a Renfrew standpoint, but will the people of Ottawa support two senior teams? It is from the Ottawa public that Renfrew must look for their audience, as it is extremely unlikely 5,000 people will make the railway trip every time the senior team is to play. An exodus like that would depopulate Renfrew. Added to this is the objection that the last four games of the Canadian league would require a re-arrangement of dates.

The third "sensation" that the Renfrew is dissatisfied with Fred Whitcroft's work in centre ice and that Newey Lalonde of Les Canadiens will be secured by the Creamery City. Recent papers to hand all contain glowing reports of Fred's showing in the different games, so probably this story of his release must also be taken with a grain of salt.

CANADIAN GETS HIS BLUE

This is an Honor More Prized by the Average Oxford Student than the Winning of a Degree

"The first Canadian to gain the distinction of gaining his soccer 'blue' at Oxford has gone to L. Henry, of Manitoba. The blue, it might be explained, is a distinction—the right to wear the blue blazer of the University—conferred on a player who takes part in the annual match against the sister university of Cambridge. Each individual college has its colors, but the blue—the dark blue for Oxford and the light blue for Cambridge, the colors of the University—are the most coveted honors of Varsity athletes.

VETERAN WALKER REACHES ARIZONA

Edward Payson Weston Meets with Slight Mishap—Slips on Trestle and Injures his Knee

Kingman, Arizona, Feb. 19.—Edward Payson Weston, the famous pedestrian, who started on February 1st to walk from Los Angeles to New York in ninety days, reached Kingman this morning and was met outside of the town by the entire school population of the place, and hundreds of grown-up persons. The seventy-one-year-old pedestrian was greeted along the line with enthusiasm and when he reached town the Juvenile Band serenaded him while he rested at his hotel. He met with a mishap just before reaching town by slipping on a trestle and injuring one of his knees, but on examination it was found that the injury would not inconvenience him much.

After partaking of food and resting an hour, Weston again proceeded on his journey. He was accompanied by a Santa Fe railroad track motor car and his secretary. He was enthusiastic over the great desert country through which he had passed during the past five days, and the ever-changing scenes of mountains and plain, the pure desert air and the balmy spring days seemed to rejuvenate him and make him years younger. He started off with the old springy step that all his eastern friends remember so well, and soon disappeared, going eastward, behind the jutting mountains.

Tonight he will reach Seligman, a division point of the Santa Fe railroad. The trip from Los Angeles to Kingman, a distance of 441 miles, was made by Mr. Weston in eleven days of walking.

McAuley Was Beaten.

Winnipeg, Feb. 20.—Winnipeg's great hospital was brought to a close last night. The closing competition was the finals in the Trolley Tea and Purify Flour Tankards. In the former Cassidy's famous rink defeated McAuley, Southampton, Ont., by a score of 9 to 8. But in Purify Flour competition Cassidy went down to defeat by Fenton of Fort William by a score of 10 to 8.

The Lethbridge club has sent contracts to Secretary Farrell for Hanger Cox and players Machin, Bell, Hart and Broglin.

"Yes," said a travelling man last night, "I was once out of sight of land on the Atlantic Ocean twenty-one days."

There was a small-sized crowd sitting around. Another man spoke up. "On the Pacific Ocean one time I didn't see land for twenty-nine days," he said.

A little bald-headed man knocked the ashes from his cigar. "I started across the Kaw River at Topoka in a skiff once," he said, "and was out of sight of land before I reached the other side."

"Aw, come off," said the man who had told the first tale. "The Kaw isn't more than three hundred feet wide at Topoka."

"I didn't say it was," said the little bald-headed man quietly. "The skiff turned over and I sank twice," the Denver Post.

IS A REGULAR ADMIRAL CRICHTON

If There is Anything that Frank Patrick Cannot do, and do well You'll Have to Show us

Frank Patrick, of the Renfrew hockey team, is rapidly acquiring a popularity with the Ottawa public rarely experienced by an opponent. His physique and general appearance are sufficient to attract attention anywhere. In addition to his curly locks, he possesses a brilliant complexion that would gain him a small fortune if connected with a breakfast food firm.

Patrick is an unusual example of the versatility of many leading athletes, although few have boasted such proficiency in the various lines of sport in which he was engaged. As a high school youngster in Montreal his work with the student team was of a standard to earn him the reputation of "the boy phenom." While a student at McGill he excelled in every branch of athletics which the University encourages. In his first season he played on the Westmount football team, where he has a record of dropping a goal from the field 45 yards out. In his second year at the halls of learning he won his college colors on the gridiron. For four years he was a member of the track team which held the Intercollegiate championship. His specialties were the long and high jumps, including the pole vault. As for hockey, he made McGill team easily. In addition to this, in his spare evenings he figured on the Westmount basketball team.

In the summer baseball claimed further attention. Altogether, he has a collection of photos of athletic clips, medals and trophies that is interesting. Of course, Frank believes the west to be the finest spot on the globe, but just the same, he is speedily making a number of friends in the Capital that will pull for him anywhere.—Free Press.

Prospects for Future.

Now is the time to have another league meeting, draw up the 1910 circuit and the schedule. The different cities will then know where they are at. Up to date meetings have been held in nearly all the cities, and prospects for 1910 seem very bright. Lethbridge has a hand drawing contest on and over 500 chances have already been sold. The proceeds will go to the hall team. Calgary has signed an excellent manager in Bill Carney and is in the league to stick. Last year's champions, Medicine Hat, are after another flag, while Regina are already getting a fast bunch together, while Moose Jaw has eleven men signed. As for Edmonton, Manager Deacon White has about twelve men under contract with lines out for several more.

From an Edmonton point of view it looks as if a tidy little six-city circuit, dropping Brandon and Winnipeg, would just about all the bill. The expenses of a trip to Winnipeg make a big hole in the western clubs' finances and the attendance in the Prairie City and Brandon does not justify the expenditure. Managers White and Carney are in favor of a six-city league and it is very probable the Saskatchewan magnates would fall in line.

The main thing is to have a league meeting and thresh the matter out. Edmonton has the nucleus of a good team now but are rather anxious to know who we are to play against. There is one thing that The Capital desires to bring before the league directors and that is the necessity for competent umpires. Last year there was only one man, Voss, at all worthy of the designation, the rest of the staff being incapable, to say the least. There is one thing the people of Edmonton will not stand for and that is to have any of last year's umpires, with the exception of Voss, retained. They did as much to spoil the attendance last season as the tail-end team we had.

WESTERN CANADA LEAGUE PROSPECTS

If Winnipeg and Brandon don't want to Come in, let us have a Six Club League

The prospects for the Western Canada Baseball League are beginning to appear very bright.

At the end of last season the league looked as dead as the proverbial door-nail, but after fasting for six months the fans of the different cities on the circuit are beginning to display voracious appetites and shrill for the season to commence.

Take last year's eight-club league, which consisted of Medicine Hat, Winnipeg, Calgary, Lethbridge, Brandon, Regina, Edmonton and Moose Jaw, and dope out how many cities made money.

How They Panned Out.

Calgary made a few dollars by charging higher prices than the other cities, while Winnipeg just about came out even. The other six cities lost, and some were heavy losers. But what more can be expected from a league in its first year, with unknown players, large jumps and a salary limit which was openly disregarded by two or three clubs?

Prospects for Future.

ADANACS AND DEACONS TO-NIGHT

The Two Fast Amateur Outfits will Play at the Thistle Rink at 8:30 —Don't Miss this Game

We have written the phrase "best game of the season" so often that it appears tiresome even to ourselves. If a man told you that C. O. Knowles and Bert Nicholls, of Renfrew's rink in winning the Tankard last year walked a distance equal to that which separates Toronto and Newmarket, you would probably shun him and suspect the balance of his mental guide wheels. If another fellow said that the same pair had covered 50 miles in their championship games in the Tankard and Canada Life series you would tack a "dippy card" to his shoulders. The statement that these men cover more than fifty miles in a year's curling sounds like rot but here are the figures. Work it out for yourself.

The distance from tee to tee is 124 feet. In each end, the lead and second player follow—and for the most part sweep—six rocks apiece. The third player follows two pairs of rocks each end. In a game of eighteen ends the first two players of a rink walk up and down—or run down and walk up—one hundred and eight times.

The single distance is 124 feet. This performance repeated one hundred and eight times gives a total distance of 29,616 feet apiece for one game or approximately three and one-fifth miles. The third player, following four stones each, makes forty-eight complete trips, or 15,816 feet—two and one-eighth miles. The skip is, of course, exempt from all these journeys.

In addition to this there is the walking to and from and around the rink. They sure are a shifty pair and they have found it about as far to the premier places in curling as to Utopia.

If you have digested that, try this: Rocks vary in weight from thirty-five to forty-five pounds. Forty pounds is the average weight. In every end 960 pounds of granite are heaved over the sheet. In a game of eighteen ends each player lifts 1,745 pounds. In a game, the total tonnage handled by the two rinks is 11,420 pounds.

And the next time a man tells you that curling is a "sport" and forgets about the work part of it, just jog his memory with a few of these figures.

To be a successful curler, combine the walking ability of Edward Payson Weston with the stamina of Henri St. Yves, and the strength of Hercules and the sweeping ability of a good housekeeper, and you are it.

Moose Jaw has sent in to President Eckstrom contracts for Davis, Welsh, Olmstead, Anthony, Middeldredt, Rosser, Smith, Gilchrist, Culver, Ward and O'Hall.

Geo. Martel's timepiece may become as famous as "Eddie Bailey's Watch."

Every move of the Ottawa players is chronicled by the home papers. Last issue of the Free Press describes the heroes opening their pay envelopes. A "touching" scene.

In the New York State bowling league at Elmira Monday night, Buffalo won two out of three from the home team, the Bisons losing the last string, which, by the way, is their first loss in the league. Jimmy Smith, the former Brooklyn star, who is managing the Bisons allies in Buffalo, broke the league record by rolling 279 the first game, and averaging 230 for the three games.

Berlin still Brantford out, and scored ten goals themselves, although the home team's penalties aggregated 42 to Brantford's 28 minutes.

Galt had a new man, Ken Mallen, at centre last night, and the despatches from that town give him credit for beating Waterloo by 8 to 3.

THE CURLER IS AN ATHLETE

A Genius for Figures has Worked out how far they Walk and how Much they Lift in one Game

The Toronto Telegram has these following interesting statistics concerning the roaring game of curling: If a man told you that C. O. Knowles and Bert Nicholls, of Renfrew's rink in winning the Tankard last year walked a distance equal to that which separates Toronto and Newmarket, you would probably shun him and suspect the balance of his mental guide wheels. WELL KNOWN TO CRICKETERS

Tom Hearne, for Many Years Groundsman at Lords, Crosses the Great Divide

Tom Hearne, who was for many years chief of the ground staff at Lord's, has just died from cancer in St. Bartholomew's Hospital, where he had been in-patient for the last fortnight. He never took part in first-class cricket, but he was a capital judge of the game, and was very popular at headquarters. Tom Hearne was born at Stoke Poles in Bucks in 1849. He was a son of the famous "Old Tom" Hearne of Middlessex and All England fame, who was also in his day ground superintendent at Lord's. Young Tom, however, did not immediately succeed his father, who died in 1900, the position for a time being filled by Pearce. Hearne was a great authority on the preparation of cricket grounds, and the wickets at Lord's certainly improved under his care. He was also at one time cricket coach at Wellington college.

Blackett Won Two.

The game at the Y.M.C.A. bowling alley last evening resulted in Blackett's team just falling 1 pin short of taking three straight games. Blackett was high man with a 224 single, which equals the alley record. The scores were:

Where were Lynn and Kent.

To field, Feb. 21.—The hockey match between Wainwright and the home team today in the Eastern Alberta championship series, ended two to one in favor of the visitors. The game was a splendid exhibition of hockey and great credit is due the referee and judge of play for the impartial manner in which they conducted the game. "Members" from both teams adorned the fence quite frequently and it served to keep the game good and clean.

Publicity Work of Board.

In reference to the publicity work of the board the following is reported:

	Copies
View calendars of Edmonton sent out	4,000
Edmonton sheet	8,000
View booklet	3,000
Literature distributed at New Westminster	3,000
Literature distributed at Chicago	3,500
Maps of Edmonton district and Peace River	800

One thousand slips were sent out each month giving the bank clearing returns, building permits, post office and custom office returns and street car earnings. These slips were sent to all the members of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, the officials of the C. N. R., G. T. P., and C. P. railways, also to the leading newspapers of Canada and to all boards of trade.

Two thousands five hundred and twenty-five circular letters were sent out.

Two thousand nine hundred and seventy-six letters were sent out besides 2,647 pieces of literature in reply to letters received about Edmonton and district.

Articles were written for the local papers from time to time, as well as for the Farm Crops, Commercial, Canadian Industrial Review, Canadian Thresherman and Farmer, Monetary Times, Victoria Sunset, Standard of the Empire, Canada, London Daily Mail, etc.

Two new names, J. Travis Barker and Mr. Darby, manager for R. G. Dunn and Co., were added to the membership roll.

J. C. Dowsett, the retiring president, brought up the question of freight rates. He informed the meeting that while the freight on goods out of Edmonton was based on the mileage rate, Winnipeg shippers were benefiting by a reduced tariff. He considered that Alberta is being discriminated against by the railways. Mr. Dowsett moved, seconded by A. H. Dikens, that the matter of getting uniform freight rates throughout west be referred to the transportation committee.—Carried.

Mr. Miller brought up the question of switching charges, and said that he considered the charge of $10 for shunting a car exorbitant. F. T. Fisher assured Mr. Miller that John Halstead has promised the board an early remedy to this difficulty. A tariff was now before the railway for approval and would shortly be published.

At this juncture Jas. McGeorge, the new president, took the chair and received an ovation. He thanked the members in a neat speech for the honor conferred upon him.

New Officers

The nomination committee recommended the following officers who were declared elected for the year 1910:

President—Jas. McGeorge.

First vice—F. M. Morgan, chairman transportation committee.

Second vice—F. Somerville, chairman civic interests committee.

Third vice—T. M. Turnbull, chairman commercial and industrial enterprise.

Conveners of sections—Wholesale, J. C. Dowsett; retail, W. J. Jackson; financial, A. C. Fraser; professional, O. M. Duggan; grains and milling, A.

B. Campbell; insurance, H. Milton Martin; manufacturing, W. W. Chown, Lumber—W. H. Clark.

A collection of English election posters, brought from the old country by Jas. K. Cornwall, M. P. P., were arranged around the walls and gave the members some idea of the intense bitterness that prevailed in the recent British elections.

maintaining the present market site. But even in this division, which was expected to return a majority in favor of the Rice street site, the supporters of the First street site proved numerous, and carried their desire by a bare majority of 2 votes, the figures reading 169 for First street, and 167 for Rice street.

The chief point at issue, as revealed yesterday by the feeling of the citizens, appeared to be not so much which site would be of greater value to the market building, but rather the desire to retain the Rice street-Queen's avenue block as a centre for civic buildings. The general feeling seemed to be that the presented market location would form an ideal civic centre, and the majority of the voters showed their foresightedness and desire for a more beautiful Edmonton by placing the market building on First street. The citizens of Division 4, who are and will be for many years the greatest users of the market, made the First street site their choice by an overwhelming majority, 211 to 25.

On the question of the new public library no shadow of doubt now remains as to the desire of the citizens. They want the Carnegie library placed where it will be an ornament to the city. In every division the Rice-Howard site was rejected by large majorities. The total majority against this site for the library was nearly as large as the majority in favor of the universally popular exhibition park proposition.

The improvement of the East End Park, and the building thereon of new exhibition buildings, was the most popular measure before the citizens yesterday. As a result the bylaw to provide $75,000 for this purpose carried easily. In fact, it received a large majority than was cast in either of the other questions at stake. The city and the exhibition board will now have a free hand in going ahead with their plans for the exhibition of 1910. The Edmonton fair this year ought to be the best ever held here, and in the course of a few years it should develop into a few annual provincial exhibition. Everything points to this end, and if the city council approves the idea at the weekly meeting tonight, a double track car service will be in operation by the time the gates of the exhibition are opened to the public.

About 35 per cent. of the total number of voters enrolled on the lists turned out to the polls yesterday. This is a far larger percentage than was expected, owing to the cold weather, and to the fact that a great many of the property holders are out of town. In the two bylaws, where plural voting is permissible, large property holders were able to vote three and even four times, once in each division.

Only one vote was allowed in the market plebiscite, however.

WORK THAT WILL COUNT

THE work that you do in The Capital's Prize Contest will bring you the greatest returns you ever received for the same amount of effort. We do not require you to bring in a certain number of subscribers to win a certain prize. We do offer you the very best Pianos, Diamond Rings and other prizes that can be found on the market in Edmonton. Every subscription will secure votes according to the published schedule, and a reasonable amount of effort will bring you a handsome reward. The plan adopted, which will be fully explained to all interested, is the fairest and most impartial imaginable. It is a competition proposition in which personal effort and perseverance are bound to count. In offering these prizes our first thought was to make them well worth the winning. In this we have succeeded.

Either of the pianos will grace any home. Go see them at Geo. H. Suckling Piano Salon, 231 Rice Street and see what duplicates will cost. Visit the jewelry stores of Jackson Bros, 303 Jasper Ave. W.; G. F. Watcher, 124 Jasper Ave. E.; Johnson & Hubbs, 129 Jasper Ave. W.; A. Bruce Powley, 118 Jasper Ave. E.; Ash Bros., 111 Jasper Ave. W.; and Cook & Kirkland, and examine the diamonds and watches. The Morris Chairs and Writing Desks may be seen at the Campbell Furniture Co. The Business Course furnished by the Alberta Business College and the Grand Trunk Business College have a value much beyond estimate, as students finishing a course at these schools get good positions.

Get in the race early. The work of securing subscribers to the Daily Capital, Saturday News & Alberta Homestead is not a hard task, and, in this instance, will be vastly profitable.

For this reason mails placed in the post office in many of the outside towns cannot reach Edmonton before Saturday morning (that is, coming in late Friday evening and distributed the next morning), the winner of the special prize can not be announced before Saturday.

Candidates are not required to vote the certificate, and the prize will not be given on the vote in the paper.

Neither will the amount of money the winner turns in be made public. The Contest Manager will submit the books of his Department to an official of the Royal Bank for verification, and the winner will be announced in Saturday evening's Capital.

This method gives every contestant an equal chance, with favors to none, as the contest books will be open to inspection after the close of the contest—but not before.

"I have plenty of promises, but the winner has been too cool to go after the subscriptions." So said several Edmonton candidates yesterday. The same reports came from the contestants in the outside districts. Never mind, the contest man "heard" that milder weather (commonly called a "chink" in southern Alberta), was to arrive tonight or Thursday, and when milder weather is with subscriptions will again continue to roll in and be recorded for the hustling candidates. Just remember that when you vote, "too chilly" for you to solicit is "too hot" for the other candidates. In the south people think that the residents of the north do not notice cold weather, but if a southerner comes north the observations of but one cold spell explains that idea. Twenty or thirty degrees below zero is cold weather in Alberta, Missouri (where they have to be shown) and any other cold place.

Don't be Bluffed

One utterly needless source of discouragement to timid candidates is the fear in which they hold some particular contestants. They hear all kinds of rumors and that so-and-so has collected an incredible number of subscriptions. Rumor is always untrustworthy, and no reports are more apt to be more exaggerated than these. It is pretty safe to cut in two all you hear and then divide by about four. Even if you know that some one has several thousand more votes than you what of it? How did they get them? In exactly the same way you can. The remedy lies in your own hands. Talk is nothing but words, but subscriptions mean votes, and votes mean prizes. Less talk and more votes would make a better showing. Subscribers will please report to the contest department when coupons are missing from the Capital when received. Carrier boys taking these coupons without permission will be severely dealt with.

ways Railway. The charge is laid in the preamble that reasonable precautions have not been taken by the government to protect the public interests and that said company are under said contract and specifications at liberty to construct a very cheap and inferior class of railway and terminals at a very much less cost than $20,000 for each mile of said railway, and that they are at liberty to draw from the proceeds of the sale of said bonds, $20,000 per mile for each ten miles of railway so constructed before the same is ballasted, and are at liberty under said contract and specifications to construct a line with a maximum gradient of 55 feet per mile and a minimum curvature of not less than 955 feet or 6 degrees with width of cuttings at formation level only 20 feet, and width of embankment only 14 feet when settled in place with slopes of cuttings and embankments one and one-half feet horizontal to four feet vertical in earth, and one foot horizontal to four feet vertical in rock cutting with rails of the weight of only 55 pounds per lineal yard, and not necessarily new, to be connected with fish plates and splice and other timber of only a six inch space for ties, and the road ballasted with prairie loam and in other respects a very cheap and inferior road, which will cost very much less for constructing than the amount of money per mile which the said company, are at liberty by virtue of said contract to draw from time to time from the proceeds of the sale of said bonds on every ten miles of road so constructed, and which will cost several million dollars less for total construction, including Edmonton terminals than the sum of $7,400,000, which the company under said contract will be at liberty to draw upon such completion, and before said road is ballasted, even with prairie loam.

And, whereas, said railway so constructed will be a very expensive road to operate and maintain, and whereas in view of the fact that the government have so pledged the province to the payment of the interest at 5 per cent per annum, payable half yearly upon said sum of $7,400,000, and in view of the fact that said company have a paid up capital of only $200,000, and that none of the said railway is completed or any portion thereof, it is essential that the immediate construction of the said railway should be proceeded with, in order that some revenue therefrom may become available to the payment of the interest upon said bonds, and it is further essential in the interests of the province that all of the said money for which principal sum and interest the province is pledged, shall be expended in railway construction, and in the construction of nothing but a first class and modern railway, capable of being operated at a minimum cost to the state that the same may be operated on a paying basis, with reasonable freight and passenger rates.

Therefore, he it resolved, that in the opinion of this house, proceedings should be immediately instituted to expropriate the rights, franchises and powers and real and personal property of said railway and vest the same in the province, in accordance with the provisions of section 20, of the act of incorporation of said railway company, being chapter 40 of the statutes of 1909.

And further he it resolved that the construction of the said railway shall be proceeded with without delay, by the provision of three members to be appointed by this legislature, or in such other manner as this legislature may determine, and that the necessary legislation should be forthwith introduced and passed.

And further resolved that as the distance between Edmonton and Fort McMurray is not greater, but is only in direct line 220 miles, there should be set aside of the said sum of $7,400,000 a sufficient sum for the purpose of constructing said railway from Edmonton to Fort McMurray, in a first class manner, and by whatever route will best serve the interests of the railway and present as well as future possible settlement and the balance of said sum of $7,400,000 shall be used for the construction of a railway or railways, in whatever portion of this province the legislature may determine.

And, whereas all such loans have been sold and the money deposited in certain banks in the city of Edmonton, it is claimed by the government that the said bonds for the payment of the principal sum and interest of which the province is so pledged, carrying five per cent interest payable half yearly, were sold at only the par or face value thereof.

And, whereas the government on behalf of the province have entered into an agreement with the said company for the construction of the said railway.

And, whereas, it appears from a perusal of said contract and specifications and the other documents and papers laid upon the table of this House that reasonable precautions have not been taken by the government to protect the public interests and that said company are under said contract and specifications at liberty to construct a very cheap and inferior class of railway and terminals at a very much less cost than $20,000 for each mile of said railway, and that they are at liberty to draw from the proceeds of the sale of said bonds, $20,000 per mile for each ten miles of railway so constructed before the same is ballasted, and are at liberty under said contract and specifications to construct a line with a maximum gradient of 55 feet per mile and a minimum curvature of not less than 955 feet or 6 degrees with width of cuttings at formation level only 20 feet, and width of embankment only 14 feet when settled in place with slopes of cuttings and embankments one and one-half feet horizontal to four feet vertical in earth, and one foot horizontal to four feet vertical in rock cutting with rails of the weight of only 55 pounds per lineal yard, and not necessarily new, to be connected with fish plates and splice and other timber of only a six inch space for ties, and the road ballasted with prairie loam and in other respects a very cheap and inferior road, which will cost very much less for constructing than the amount of money per mile which the said company, are at liberty by virtue of said contract to draw from time to time from the proceeds of the sale of said bonds on every ten miles of road so constructed, and which will cost several million dollars less for total construction, including Edmonton terminals than the sum of $7,400,000, which the company under said contract will be at liberty to draw upon such completion, and before said road is ballasted, even with prairie loam.

Manitoba Government and Farmers Confer on Elevator Proposition

Winnipeg, Feb. 21.—The government and the executive of the Grain Growers' Association have locked horns on the very important issue of the appointment and control of the commission which is to be entrusted with the administration of the government elevators when such shall have been instituted.

The government is insisting upon retaining the right to appoint and control the commission, and the grain growers are determined to resist this, maintaining that the commission must remain absolutely free from political dominance if it is to be effective and permanent.

This determination has been expressed in a resolution which has been signed by the executive of the grain growers' association and forwarded to the government following a series of conferences upon the matter which extended over several days and which failed to effect a compromise or a mutually satisfactory agreement.

FOUND AGAINST THE LAWYER

Decision Given by Mr. Justice Scott in Unusual Case Tried at Calgary

SOLD AN APARTMENT HOUSE To Capt. Amplett, now of Alis, who Claimed that Mr. Blaylock De-frauded Him

Mr. Justice Scott has handed out judgment in an unusual case, tried recently at Calgary.

The action was commenced by Captain Amplett, who now resides in Alis, and was for $50,000 the plaintiff claiming that Blaylock and Bergeron of Calgary defrauded him and also abused the relationship of solicitor and client, and that they also deceived him.

While acting as solicitor for Captain Amplett Messrs. Blaylock and Bergeron purchased the Marlborough Apartment for him, and in doing so charged him $20,000 more for the property than the owners asked through an option held by Blaylock. The judgment in detail is as follows:

Charles E. Amplett.

In this action the plaintiff seeks to recover from the defendants the sum of $10,000, which he claims that they, while acting as his agents and solicitors, received by way of secret profit on the purchase by him of a property in Calgary known as the Marlborough Apartments.

The defendants are a firm of solicitors practicing in Calgary. In May 1908 the defendant Blaylock, while on his way home from England, met the plaintiff on the steamship, the latter being on his way to British Columbia with the intention of purchasing a fruit farm there. By arrangement between them they travelled together westward from Ottawa by the Canadian Pacific railway, the plaintiff intending to leave the main line at Dunmore Junction, and proceed by the Crow's Nest Pass to Nelson. Before reaching the junction Blaylock persuaded plaintiff to go on with him to Calgary, intimating that it afforded a profitable field for investment, and, before reaching Calgary, he (Blaylock) mentioned the Marlborough Apartments, stating that it not already sold, they could be purchased for $65,000, and that they would be a good investment at that price. They reached Calgary on the evening of Tuesday, 12th May. Next morning (Wednesday) plaintiff went to defendants' office, where Blaylock again referred to the Marlborough Apartments, and suggested that they should go and see them, which they did. After several interviews between them plaintiff purchased the property on 16th May, for $65,000.

On 17th February, 1908, Blaylock procured from the Marlborough company, the owners of the property, an option to purchase it for $55,000. The option expired on 7th April following, but on 15th May he procured a renewal thereof until six o'clock in the afternoon of the following day. It contained a provision to the effect that Blaylock should have the right to substitute another purchaser in lieu of himself, and the agreement entered into by the plaintiff for the purchase was an agreement to purchase from the company, and at the time he entered into it, he fully believed that the company was entitled to the whole amount of the purchase money payable by him. In fact, Blaylock admits that he carefully concealed from the plaintiff the fact that he held such an option, and states that he knew that if he told plaintiff that he (Blaylock) was getting $10,000 out of the deal, the plaintiff would not have bought the property.

After the agreement for purchase was entered into, Blaylock received $10,000 out of the purchase money paid by the plaintiff, and still retains same. The impression I gathered from the evidence is that Blaylock, knowing that plaintiff had money to invest, courted his friendship in order that he might induce him to invest in the Marlborough Apartments, or in some other property through which he (Blaylock) could make a profit, and that it was with that end in view he induced plaintiff to visit Calgary. On the morning after their arrival there, and before plaintiff called at his office, Blaylock sent his partner, the defendant Bergeron, to ascertain whether the company would receive the option. Plaintiff and his wife lunched with Blaylock that day, and on the following day they, upon his invitation, went to stay at his house. He carefully concealed from plaintiff the fact that he had the option, asked him not to mention the fact that he contemplated purchasing, and apparently with the same object, asked the company's permission to have the agreement for sale drawn up in his office instead of by the company's solicitor.

Were They Acting As His Solicitors?

I have not the slightest doubt that plaintiff believed and had reasonable grounds for believing, that the defendant firm was acting as his solicitors, in the matter, and he was depending upon them, especially Blaylock, to protect him in the transaction. Both defendants disclaim that they were retained by him so to act or that they so acted. The question whether the relationship of solicitor and client existed between them does not depend upon whether they were specially retained to act for him, or whether they charged him any fees for their services (See Donaldson v. Haldane, 7 Cr. and P. 262), and their conduct and the circumstances surrounding the transaction point to the conclusion that they were acting for him. There was nothing in their conduct to lead to the contrary view beyond the fact that defendants state that when the agreement was drawn up one of them suggested that plaintiff should take the agreement to another solicitor, and in this they were corroborated by another witness present at the time. The plaintiff and his wife, however, both deny that any such suggestion was made. If the suggestion was made it was made at a time and in such manner as to lead to the view that defendants did not intend that it should be acted upon. Up to that time there was no suggestion by either of the defendants that plaintiff should retain another solicitor, although during the negotiations plaintiff suggested that a valuation of the property should be obtained, whereupon Blaylock recommended that for purpose of a firm of architects with whom he had business dealings, and also suggested the names of two bank managers from whom he had obtained advances, as proper persons from whom plaintiff might obtain information as to the value of the property. Plaintiff did not consult his own banker as to the standing of the architects recommended by Blaylock, but, apparently because of the fact that Blaylock had requested him not to mention the matter he did not consult him as to the propriety of purchasing. He did not at any time consult any other solicitor. A circumstance pointing to the conclusion that defendants were acting in that capacity is that on the morning of the day the agreement for sale was drawn up and signed, they procured an abstract of title to the property and charged the expenses thereof to the plaintiff. Why they should have done this, if not so acting, was not satisfactorily explained.

Plaintiff and his wife state that they asked Blaylock why he was so anxious to make a sale and that he replied that the company was giving a commission of 3-1/2 per cent. for making it. He denies that he made such a statement and states that he told him that he had an interest in the property but did not tell him what his interest was.

Unbecoming Conduct.

During the negotiations for the purchase plaintiff and his wife asked Blaylock if the property could not be bought for less than $65,000, to which he replied that it could not. Apart from the question whether the relationship of solicitor and client existed between them, this statement, and the fact that he endeavored to conceal from plaintiff the fact that he had the option of the property was, to put it mildly, conduct unbecoming to a solicitor. Such conduct on the part of one who was not a solicitor might not be considered unreasonable, or, at least, might not be a ground of action, but in the case of a solicitor who is an officer of the court, it cannot be too strongly condemned.

I hold, however, that the relationship of solicitor and client did exist between the plaintiff and the defendants, and, such being the case, it was the defendants' duty to disclose to the plaintiff the fact that Blaylock had an option on the property. It was also their duty to insist that plaintiff should consult another solicitor and to refuse to complete the purchase until he had obtained independent advice. (See Goddard vs. Cardale, 9 Price 180, 23 R. R. 654.) The evidence shows that defendant Blaylock received the whole of the $10,000 and that defendant Bergeron was never at any time entitled to any interest therein.

I therefore give judgment for the plaintiff against defendant Blaylock for $10,000 with interest from 16th May, 1908, and costs of suit. I dismiss the action as against the defendant Bergeron, but, in view of what I have stated, without costs as against the plaintiff.

(Sgd.) D. L. SCOTT.

GREAT SHORTHORN SALE

A Top of $2,000—An average of $280.95.

Five animals sold at $1,000 or better.

Nine animals sold at $500 to $900 each.

One hundred and thirty-eight cattle sold.

Total proceeds of same $27,367.50; average price $280.95.

Such in brief is the story of the combination sale of Shorthorns at the Union stock yards, Toronto, held last week. The sale marks a red letter day in the history of Ontario Shorthorns. It emphasizes the excellence of the work done by leaders in the Shorthorn industry. It proves the strength of the faith held in this magnificent breed of cattle by those who made purchases. It goes far in establishing the right of the banner province of Confederation to be considered the seed ground of continent because of the five animals which fetched for $1,000 or better, all but one were bred in Ontario. And of the animals that sold from $500 to $900 eight first saw the light in this province.

Just Good Enough

To Be Dangerous

If poor advertising mediums were ENTIRELY worthless they would not be dangerous! For they could not, then, make any appeal whatever to sensible advertisers.

But an advertising medium which has a LITTLE MERIT is, like "a little knowledge," a "dangerous thing." Some business men there are, always, who—for considerations of "cheapness," etc.,—will either rely upon such mediums wholly, or give them an absurdly large part in their advertising campaigns.

Persistence Draws Big Wages!

Enough persistency to make something else probable of accomplishment will almost always finish the task in want advertising. This quality of persistency draws its biggest rewards in want advertising—wins its surest laurels.

To "know when to quit" is important in some things. To know when to KEEP ON is important in want advertising. It's the secret of the person who is called "fortunate!"

Archibald Langston, who was charged with passing a worthless cheque for $350 on the Burnham-Frith Electric Co., pleaded guilty to the charge before Magistrate Cowan in the police court this morning. In view of the fact that he had paid back the money, he was released by false pretences. Magistrate Cowan released him on suspended sentence first giving him a warning. Langston will, however, have to pay $20 in costs before he will be granted his liberty.

Fred Feldt Brings Suit for $1000 to Protect his Good Name

Claiming that he was willfully slandered, Frederick Feldt is suing Paul Marquart for $1000 damages to his good name. The trial is taking place before Justice Harvey and a jury in the supreme court today.

Both plaintiff and defendant reside near Leduc, and Feldt claims that in March of last year Marquart went around telling people that he, Feldt, had stolen a gun from a farmer living near him, by the name of Wilson.

The defence does not admit that Feldt did say this, but will attempt to show that if he did say it, it was the truth. It appears that in a trial before Justice Taylor at Leduc, Feldt, who was charged by Wilson with the labor in the city affiliated with the drawings were perhaps the best of the lot but were drawn only to half scale and had the different buildings also scattered. In addition Mr. Ash placed his grand stand on the sunny side of the track.

Third prize, $75 goes to J. G. Armour, of the public works department. Mr. Armour used the pen name of "Zeno." Besides having some very good good ideas for the laying out of the exhibition grounds, "Zeno" submitted the best idea for the proposed joint athletic field.

It does not necessarily follow that because a competitor won a prize this plans will be followed out to the minutest detail. The directors will pick out the best features of the three prize winners' efforts and embody them into one plan which will be followed out.

Sentenced to the Lash

Regina, Feb. 22.—For the first time in the history of the city police court a prisoner was sentenced to the lash, when Magistrate Traut this morning handed that penalty to the 16 year old boy named Hayward, charged with the most heinous of crimes. The magistrate ordered that Hayward be sent to jail for one year and that during his term of incarceration six lashes be administered. Hayward was a well-known boy here having been clerk in a local drug store.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

Edmonton Opera House To-night

The Edmonton Opera House is in ship-shape today and this evening. The National Stock Company will present Nat Goodwin's best known success "A Gold Mine." This play is a positively one of the most pretentious efforts of the talented stock company and calls for magnificent wardrobe and gorgeous scenic display. Seats may be reserved at the Opera House box office, and prospects already point to a large audience being present tonight. To-morrow afternoon and evening the play will be "The Brixton Burglary."

if he can leave his present position on short notice. If the telegram stating that he can come reaches the mayor or Alderman Gariepy before the council meeting tonight, the appointment will be made at once. If not, the commissioners will have to remain vacant for another week.

In any event, Mr. Latourne will be appointed city engineer at tonight's council meeting. Last Tuesday night when this question was brought up it was thought advisable to wait until after the appointment of a Public Works Commissioner, before the position of city engineer was filled. All the members of the council are agreed upon Mr. Latourne as city engineer, however, and his appointment tonight will be unanimous.

HANGMAN'S FEE GARNISHEED

Holmes Wasn't Able to Collect all that was Coming to Him at Regina

Regina Standard.

The law of the land says that capital punishment shall prevail, and it is necessary, therefore, that someone undertake the duty of carrying out the sentence of the court. In recent years Radcliffe has officiated all over Canada, but at last in Edmonton, F. W. Holmes has officiated. Like Radcliffe, it is said that Holmes considers he performs a duty to the public when he carries out the court order and pulls the lever which sends the criminal into eternity. His execution today was most successfully accomplished, not a hitch in the proceedings occurring from the time the condemned man stood upon the trap door until the cutting of the rope which released the body.

For his work Holmes received a very considerable fee, but a portion of it he will have to share with his former employers, The Leader Publishing Company. Writs of garnishment were served yesterday on Holmes and upon Sheriff Cook, who will pay the fee, by Mackenzie Brown, Thom & Frame, solicitors for The Leader Publishing Company. The writs call for the withholding of $10.20 from the hangman's fee and payment of the same to The Leader Publishing Company in satisfaction of a debt said to have been incurred to the company by Holmes during the time he was employed in the Hamilton street office. The papers were filed with the clerk of the court yesterday and action upon them will be taken today.

Before entering the business as official hangman, Holmes was employed at The Leader office in the mailing room. He left the service after returning from Edmonton, where he performed an execution. A round robin signed by the staff led to his leaving the employ of The Leader, and now the company seek to restrain a portion of his hangman's fee in satisfaction of a liability to them. It is an ill wind that blows nobody good.

Mr. Angus Currie, who is teaching at Stoney Plain, was a visitor at his home here from Friday night until Sunday. He returned to his duties Monday morning.
